

Free Business Advice for Social Enterprises in Exeter

A social enterprise is a business that creates positive social change

We provide free one-to-one business advice sessions and workshops in Exeter to encourage new and existing social enterprises in the city. The free support is fully funded by Exeter City Council.

To be eligible for support, a new or existing social enterprise must be based within Exeter or be planning to move into the city. A client may be an individual, an organisation, a business or a charity. You want to make that positive difference to your community. Whatever your background, if you meet the criteria for support, we will help you to take your next steps to turn your ideas into action.

To arrange an appointment for a free business advice session: call 01392 248508.

So, why not make the most of this free support opportunity?

There is a deadline however, March 2012. The earlier we hear from you the better!

Who we are and what we do? As qualified social enterprise business advisors with a combined level of experience of over 40 years, we can help you to avoid pitfalls in your business planning, advise you on appropriate legal structures and guide you on funding, finance, sales and marketing. Importantly, to help you take your plans forward, we will also provide you with top tips and tools.
